Auna is recognized as the company with the best reputation in the health sector in Peru

- The Delgado Auna Clinic leads the health sector and is among the 100 companies with the best reputation in Peru according to the Companies and Leaders 2021 ranking, developed by the Corporate Reputation Business Monitor (Merco). Oncosalud ranks third in the category.

Auna, through Clínica Delgado Auna, has been recognized as the institution with the best reputation in Peru in the health sector according to the Merco Empresas y Líderes 2021 ranking. In addition, the Auna Clinic headquarters in Peru specialized in high complexity is the only institution of the category to appear among the one hundred with the best reputation in the country. For its part, Oncosalud, leader in oncology programs in Peru, ranks third in the sector.

"At Auna we are very proud to appear with Clínica Delgado Auna and Oncosalud in this prestigious ranking that highlights the good reputation of Peruvian companies. It is a recognition of the enormous commitment of all collaborators during the pandemic to fulfill our purpose of always taking care of the health and well-being of patients, contributing our best performance to the service of the communities where we serve,"says Luis Felipe Pinillos, manager general of Auna.

For the elaboration of the ranking, Merco has deployed for five months the most complete reputational evaluation methodology in the world, with 23,649 surveys of citizens and experts from different fields in Peru, among which are journalists, company executives, heads of NGOs or consumer associations, among others.
