What Is Lease-to-Own (LTO)?

Katapult offers a Scalable Omnichannel LTO solution

For consumers who have no/sub-prime credit, Katapult LTO enables new paths to purchase durable goods

With Katapult's LTO product, customer understands full cost of ownership, up-front

- No late fees or penalties. Ever
- Can repay early with options like a low 90-day buyout price
- Makes purchases more affordable

Customer makes recurring payments toward owning goods outright

- No long-term obligation to continue leasing; goods are returnable at any time

Customer has several options to acquire ownership of the product they are leasing

- Katapult offers flexibility that can make it more attractive and accessible than traditional financing
- With each payment, customer has the option to continue leasing, buyout or return the item

Katapult LTO provides merchant partners access to new consumer base

- 30%+ of US adults don't qualify for traditional financing or buy now/pay later¹

Key Insights

Gross Originations

- Gross originations grew 18%, driven by strong performance through direct merchants and mobile app channels and the continued expansion of merchants on the mobile app marketplace featuring Katapult Pay

Revenue

- Revenue increased 2.9% y/y and continues to reflect strong volume performance in Q1 as well as strong collection efforts and underwriting performance
- Gross origination trends are a leading indicator of future revenue streams. A percentage of revenue is recognized in the quarter in which the origination occurs and increases cumulatively over following quarters, reaching approximately 70-75% of revenue realized within two quarters from when the origination occurred

Fixed Cash Operating Expenses

- Fixed cash operating expenses decreased 24.6% y/y (this excludes underwriting fees and servicing costs, which are variable, and noncash stock-based compensation expense)
- Katapult's expense reductions are translating to improved operating leverage that can support future profitability

Adjusted EBITDA

- Q2 Adjusted EBITDA improved by over $5M y/y driven by stronger revenues and a more optimized cost structure

Strategic Roadmap for Growth

Grow Merchant base

Through deepening relationships with existing, directly integrated merchants, adding to the direct integration pipeline, and expanding merchants on Katapult Pay

New Consumers

By increasing the adoption and usage of Katapult Pay, launching new marketing capabilities, partnerships, and product enhancements

Increase Repeat Rates

Leverage the Katapult mobile app and other initiatives to drive consumer engagement and grow Katapult's active user base

Innovate Technology

Further develop new and innovative products that disrupt the industry and create a best-in-class user experience for all nonprime consumers

Historical Results

Gross Originations

Fixed Cash Operating Expenses¹

Gross Originations

Gross origination trends are a leading indicator of future revenue streams as new merchants are onboarded and leases are initiated. The new Katapult Pay feature on our mobile app is expected to drive gross originations, accelerate merchant onboarding, and reduce costs

Fixed Cash Operating Expenses

2022 was an investment year in new technology products, most notably our mobile app featuring Katapult Pay. We are now optimizing these investments and have instituted comprehensive expense savings initiatives that will continue to translate into improving operating leverage and profitability

Disclaimer

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

Adjusted gross profit represents gross profit less variable operating expenses, which are servicing costs and underwriting fees. Management believes that adjusted gross profit provides a meaningful understanding of one aspect of its performance specifically attributable to total revenue and the variable costs associated with total revenue.

Fixed cash operating expenses is a non-GAAP measure that is defined as operating expenses less variable lease costs such as underwriting fees and servicing costs, as well as non-cash equity-based compensation expenses. Management believes that fixed cash operating expenses provides a meaningful understanding of controllable ongoing expenses

Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP measure that is defined as net loss before interest expense and other fees, interest income, change in fair value of warrant liability, provision for income taxes, depreciation and amortization on property and equipment and capitalized software, impairment of leased assets, loss on partial extinguishment of debt and stock-based compensation expense, and other one time nonrecurring costs.

Adjusted EBITDA is useful in evaluating the Company's performance because this measure:

- Is widely used to measure a company's operating performance;
- Is a financial measurement used by rating agencies, lenders and other parties to evaluate the Company's credit worthiness; and
- Is used by the Company's management for various purposes, including as a measure of performance and as a basis for strategic planning and forecasting.

Adjusted net loss is a non-GAAP measure that is defined as net loss before change in fair value of warrant liability and stock-based compensation expense.

Management believes the use of non-GAAP financial measures, as a supplement to GAAP measures, is useful in that they eliminate items that are either not part of our core operations or do not require a cash outlay, such as stock-based compensation expense. Management uses these non-GAAP financial measures when evaluating operating performance and for internal planning and forecasting purposes. Management believes that these non-GAAP financial measures help indicate underlying trends in the business, are important in comparing current results with prior period results, and are useful to investors and financial analysts in assessing operating performance. However, these non-GAAP measures exclude items that are significant in understanding and assessing Katapult's financial results. Therefore, these measures should not be considered in isolation or as alternatives to revenue, net loss, cash flows from operations or other measures of profitability, liquidity or performance under GAAP. You should be aware that Katapult's presentation of these measures may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies.
