Business Insider Recognizes Vontier Among America's Most Innovative Businesses for 2027

2026-09-04

The recognition highlights Vontier's commitment to delivering innovative technologies that help customers navigate a rapidly evolving mobility ecosystem

RALEIGH, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Vontier Corporation (NYSE: VNT), a leading global provider of critical technologies and solutions that connect, manage and scale the mobility ecosystem, today announced it was named one of Business Insider's America's Most Innovative Businesses 2027.

The recognition honors organizations demonstrating strong innovation performance through industry reputation, technological impact and investment in research and development.

Developed by Business Insider in partnership with Plant-A Insights Group, the study evaluated more than 4,000 publicly traded U.S. companies. Organizations were assessed across three pillars, including reputation, impact and investment, with the 500 highest-scoring companies recognized on the final list.

"The mobility industry is undergoing profound transformation, creating new opportunities for businesses to operate more intelligently, efficiently and sustainably," said Mark Morelli, President and CEO of Vontier. "At Vontier, we're focused on turning that change into an advantage for our customers through connected technologies, data-driven insights and the application of Industrial AI to solve the industry's most difficult problems. This recognition reflects the accomplishments of our teams to help shape the future of mobility."

Vontier powers the way the world moves with a portfolio of industry-leading businesses serving convenience retail, fleet operators and vehicle repair customers. By combining connected technologies, software and deep domain expertise, Vontier helps customers navigate complexity, improve productivity and adapt to an evolving mobility ecosystem.
