Broadridge Joins Anthropic's Project Glasswing

2026-06-17

Strategic AI partnership helping secure critical software in the AI era

NEW YORK, June 17, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Broadridge Financial Solutions, Inc. (NYSE: BR), a global Fintech leader, today announced it has joined Anthropic's Project Glasswing, a new industry initiative focused on using frontier AI models to help secure the world's most critical software and strengthen cyber defense. Broadridge's participation underscores its commitment to supporting the security of the financial services industry.

"Cybersecurity is fundamental to the resilience of financial markets," said Tim Gokey, CEO of Broadridge. "We are participating in Project Glasswing to apply frontier AI models to our own systems, helping us stay ahead of emerging threats and supporting a safer financial ecosystem."

Project Glasswing brings together organizations that build or maintain software for critical infrastructure, including financial services, to address a rapidly evolving threat landscape. As part of the initiative, participants will use Claude Mythos Preview, Anthropic's unreleased frontier model, to strengthen defensive security efforts across foundational systems that represent a significant portion of the world's shared cyberattack surface.
