"Our associates are our best asset, and they are the key ingredient in the great culture that helps make Broadridge such a remarkable place to work," said Tim Gokey, Chief Operating Officer, Broadridge. He added, "Being named one of the best large employers in New York State for the sixth year is an honor, and we'll continue to work hard to create an inclusive and performance-oriented culture that provides associates with the resources to excel professionally, and deliver exceptional value to our clients."

Diversity and inclusion and leadership development are priorities in Broadridge's talent management strategy. The commitment to diversity and inclusion enhances Broadridge's creativity, productivity, and ability to manage change. Recently, Broadridge received a perfect score of 100 on the Human Rights Campaign (HRC) Corporate Equality Index (CEI) and is being recognized as one of the year's Best Places to Work for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) equality by the HRC. It is the premiere national benchmark for LGBT workplace inclusion.

Broadridge's leadership development initiatives include its Leaders' University and its unique Vision Team/Peer Group program. The University is a company-wide instructional and mentoring program that nurtures associates transferring into new leadership roles. The Vision Team/Peer Group program engages all managers globally in continuous leadership development via eight live, interactive programs each year. Broadridge collaborates with prestigious leadership development institutions such as Harvard Business Publishing, Wharton Business School - Securities Industry Institute, Franklin Covey, and others to develop the programs which are facilitated by line business leaders.

All associates can also develop individually through a range of career planning programs, while enhancing organizational effectiveness.

Broadridge employs nearly 2,000 associates in New York State and 6,200 associates worldwide. Broadridge maintains five offices in New York: its corporate headquarters in Lake Success; two major operations centers in Edgewood; and two offices in New York City.

Best Companies to Work for in New York is a program of the New York State Society for Human Resource Management (NYS-SHRM) in partnership with The Business Council of New York and is sponsored by Jackson Lewis, LLP. For additional information about the award and a list of the previous years' winners, visit www.BestCompaniesNY.com.

Employers from across the state entered the two-part process, including an evaluation of each nominated company's workplace policies, practices, philosophy, systems and demographics and also an employee survey to measure the employee experience. Best Companies Group used the combined evaluation and survey scores, and their expertise, to determine the final rankings.
