Bed Bath & Beyond, Inc. Reports Second Quarter Net Revenue of $361 Million, an Increase of 28.0% Year-Over-Year, and Its Second Consecutive Quarter of Revenue Growth

Active customers increased 47% year-over-year to 6.4 million, orders delivered increased 117% year-over-year to 2.8 million

Company announces corporate transformation to Neighborhood Intelligence, planned move to Nasdaq under the ticker NXH, and relocation of corporate headquarters to Nashville, Tennessee

Company believes it can remove more than $50 million of annualized cost over the next twelve months as acquired businesses are brought onto one platform

NASHVILLE, Tennessee - August 4, 2026 - Bed Bath & Beyond, Inc. (NYSE:BBBY), owner of Bed Bath & Beyond, Overstock, buybuy BABY, the Kirkland's and Kirkland's Home brands, and more recently The Container Store, Elfa, Closet Works, and SFV Services, as well as a blockchain asset portfolio, today reported financial results for the second quarter ended June 30, 2026.

Second Quarter 2026 Highlights

Net revenue was $361 million, an increase of 28.0% year-over-year, marking the Company's second consecutive quarter of year-over-year revenue growth following nineteen quarters of decline. Growth reflects continued strength in the Company's base online marketplace business, improved assortment, the realization of investments in the customer experience, and the inclusion of The Brand House Collective (owner of the Kirkland's and Kirkland's Home brands), which was acquired during the quarter.

Active customers increased to 6.4 million, up 47% year-over-year, and orders delivered increased to 2.8 million, up 117% year-over-year, reflecting growth in the base business and the inclusion of acquired brands. Orders per active customer increased to 1.79 from 1.32 in the prior year period, an increase of 36%.

Gross profit was $97 million, or 26.8% of net revenue.

Sales & Marketing expense was $43 million, or 11.9% of net revenue, an improvement of 160 basis points year-over-year.

Technology and general and administrative expense was $82 million compared to $37 million in the prior year period, reflecting the expansion of the Company's physical retail footprint, including store labor, occupancy, distribution, and other operating costs associated with The Brand House Collective.

Net loss was $39 million, compared to a net loss of $19 million in the prior year period. The current period includes $21 million of special items, primarily acquisition-related costs, restructuring costs, and non-cash store-closure impairments.

Adjusted EBITDA (non-GAAP) was ($12) million, compared to ($8) million in the prior year period.

Cash, cash equivalents, and restricted cash totaled $126 million at quarter end.

Strategic Progress

“Our second quarter results show that the transformation of this business is taking hold,” said Marcus Lemonis, Executive Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. “After eight quarters of meaningful operating improvement, we have now delivered two consecutive quarters of revenue growth following nineteen quarters in the other direction. Two quarters is not a victory and we have no intention of treating it as one, but it is strong support that the direction of this business has changed. We are growing revenue and active customers while continuing to take cost out of the business and operate more efficiently, and that combination matters.”

“Our omnichannel retail brands remain the front door to the customer,” Lemonis continued. “We are seeing better engagement, stronger conversion, and more frequent orders per customer, which we believe tells us the customer is responding to the investments we have made.”

During and following the quarter, the Company continued to assemble the capabilities that support its strategy. The acquisition of The Brand House Collective closed during the quarter, and the acquisition of The Container Store, Elfa, and Closet Works closed on July 8, 2026. The Company also announced definitive agreements to acquire Fathom Holdings Inc. and F9 Brands Inc. in June and July 2026, respectively. As signed transactions close and fold into the Company’s results, the Company expects continued revenue growth in its base online marketplace business, together with growth in total revenue and active customer count, over the coming quarters.

“We are acquiring capabilities and active customers while eliminating infrastructure we no longer need,” Lemonis continued. “As revenue ramps, we believe that over the next twelve months we can remove more than fifty million dollars of annualized cost by bringing our businesses together onto one platform, eliminating non-performing assets, consolidating disciplines and shared resources, improving the cost of our supply chain infrastructure, and eliminating or consolidating duplicative third-party services, software agreements, and locations. We would not call it cost cutting; we would call it finishing the merger.”

Corporate Transformation to Neighborhood Intelligence

In a shareholder letter issued today and available at <https://investors.beyond.com>, the Company announced that its parent company is becoming Neighborhood Intelligence, that it will begin trading on Nasdaq under the ticker NXH, with its last day of trading on the NYSE on August 14, 2026 and its first day of trading on Nasdaq on August 17, 2026, and that it will relocate its corporate headquarters to Nashville, Tennessee. The letter describes the Company’s organization around three interconnected pillars: Omni-Channel Retail, which helps customers create a home they love; Home Services, which helps them improve, maintain, and protect it; and Home Ownership, which brings together the financial, transactional, and advisory capabilities that support one of life’s most important investments. Together, the pillars are designed to create an ecosystem that serves customers before they purchase a home, while they own it, as they improve it, and when they ultimately decide to sell or transfer it, in support of a single mandate: to make homeownership simpler and more affordable while creating long-term value for shareholders.

The Company's consumer brands remain at the center of its customer relationships. Neighborhood Intelligence is the intelligence layer that connects them, making each brand smarter, more connected, and more valuable while preserving the unique identity and trust customers already know. The letter also describes the Company's proprietary agent, Norm™, which the Company is actively building today, with its first customer-facing version planned for later this year.

Supplemental Operational Data

We measure our business using operational metrics, in addition to the financial metrics shown above and the non-GAAP financial measures explained below. We believe these metrics provide investors with additional information regarding our financial results and provide key performance indicators to track our progress. These indicators include changes in customer order patterns and the mix of products purchased by our customers.

Active customers represent the total number of unique customers who have made at least one purchase during the prior twelve-month period. This metric captures both the inflow of new customers and the outflow of existing customers who have not made a purchase during the prior twelve-month period.

Last twelve months (LTM) net revenue per active customer represents total net revenue in a twelve-month period divided by the total number of active customers for the same twelve-month period.

Orders delivered represents the total number of orders delivered in any given period, including orders that may eventually be returned. As we ship a large volume of packages through multiple carriers, actual delivery dates may not always be available, and in those circumstances, we estimate delivery dates based on historical data.

Average order value is defined as total net revenue in any given period divided by the total number of orders delivered in that period.

Orders per active customer is defined as orders delivered in a twelve-month period divided by active customers for the same twelve-month period.

The following table provides our key operating metrics:

(in thousands, except for LTM net revenue per active customer, average order value and orders per active customer)

	Three months ended June 30,
	2026	2025
Active customers	6,389	4,356
LTM net revenue per active customer	$ 178	$ 259

Average order value	$ 129	$ 219
Orders per active customer	1.79	1.32

Non-GAAP Financial Measures and Reconciliations

We are providing certain non-GAAP financial measures in this release and related earnings conference call, including adjusted diluted net loss per share, adjusted EBITDA, and free cash flow. We use these non-GAAP measures internally in analyzing our financial results and we believe they are useful to investors, as a supplement to GAAP measures, in evaluating our ongoing operational performance and, in the case of free cash flow, our liquidity position, in the same manner as our management and board of directors. We have provided reconciliations of these non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable GAAP measures in this earnings release. These non-GAAP financial measures should be used in addition to and in conjunction with the results presented in accordance with GAAP and should not be relied upon to the exclusion of GAAP financial measures.

Adjusted diluted net loss per share is a non-GAAP financial measure that is calculated as net income (net loss) less the income or losses recognized from our equity method securities and the gains on derecognition of loan commitment. We believe that these adjustments to our net income (net loss) before calculating per share amounts provide meaningful supplemental information for investors by excluding items that are not reflective of our core retail operations and that introduce significant volatility into GAAP results. We believe excluding these adjustments enhances the comparability of our financial results across reporting periods and offers greater and supplemental insight into the performance of our core retail operations when presented in conjunction with our GAAP disclosures.

More specifically, the income or loss from equity method securities relates to our blockchain asset portfolio, which includes passive investments in early-stage blockchain technology companies. These investments are ancillary to our retail business and are not part of our strategic or operational planning for the retail segment. Additionally, the market value and performance of these investments are subject to material volatility driven by external factors unrelated to our retail business. Similarly, the gain on derecognition of loan commitment arises from non-operating investments where we do not participate in day-to-day operations, capital allocation, or economically significant decision-making. These gains or losses are all non-cash, and the Company believes their inclusion in GAAP net income (net loss) can, in the absence of additional context, distort the comparability of our operating performance across periods.

Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP financial measure that is calculated as net income (net loss) before depreciation and amortization, stock-based compensation, interest and other income (expense), provision (benefit) for income taxes, and special items. We believe the exclusion of certain benefits and expenses in calculating adjusted EBITDA facilitates operating performance comparisons on a period-to-period basis. Exclusion of items in the non-GAAP presentation should not be construed as an inference that these items are unusual, infrequent or non-recurring.

Free cash flow is a non-GAAP financial measure that is calculated as net cash provided by or used in operating activities reduced by expenditures for property and equipment. We believe free cash flow is a useful measure to evaluate the cash impact of the operations of the business including purchases of property and equipment which are a necessary component of our ongoing operations.

¹ There was no income tax effect related to the non-GAAP adjustments for any of the periods presented. Our non-GAAP income tax rate was 0% for each period primarily due to having operating losses and that the gains and losses reflected in the non-GAAP adjustments were unrealized. Further, there is no deferred income tax impact related to these adjustments primarily due to the valuation allowance against our deferred tax assets.
