OneMain Announces Support for Gov. Whitmer's Financial Literacy Month Proclamation

NEW YORK – April 24, 2024 – OneMain Financial, the leader in offering nonprime consumers responsible access to credit, today announced its support for Gov. Gretchen Whitmer's proclamation designating April as Financial Literacy Month in the state of Michigan. This proclamation builds on important legislation passed in 2022, which requires high school students to complete one half-credit personal finance course to graduate from high school.

"As Gov. Whitmer stated in her proclamation, financial literacy prepares and empowers individuals to make informed decisions related to education, training, job opportunities and more," said Paola Garcia Abbo, OneMain's Head of Impact. "Studies show that students who receive financial education in high school – provided through programs like Credit Worthy by OneMain – are more likely to demonstrate responsible financial behaviors later in life."

OneMain has already helped more than 5,500 high school students across more than 85 schools in Michigan build a strong foundation for the future through Credit Worthy by OneMain and strongly supports more Michigan students improving their knowledge of personal finance. OneMain's financial education curriculum covers financial basics, entrepreneurship, preparing for college or careers after high school, how to use, manage and build credit and much more.

Since its inception, Credit Worthy by OneMain has reached over 3,600 high schools and more than 300,000 students across all 50 states, Washington D.C., and Puerto Rico. OneMain also offers the Credit Worthy Family Resource Center and is funding $300,000 in scholarships for students participating in Credit Worthy by OneMain.
