Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements can be identified by words such as “will,” “continue,” “focus on” “may,” “believe,” “expect,” “anticipate,” “intend,” “should,” “plan,” and “potential” and similar references to future periods. Examples of forward-looking statements include, among others, the statement that trading on Nasdaq will enhance stockholder value or attract a broader investor base. Forward-looking statements are not historical facts and represent management’s beliefs, based upon information available at the time the statements are made, with regard to the matters addressed; they are not guarantees of future performance. Actual results may prove to be materially different from the results expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are subject to numerous assumptions, risks and uncertainties that change over time and could cause actual results or financial condition to differ materially from those expressed in or implied by such statements. Important factors that could cause our actual results to differ materially from those indicated in the forward-looking statements include, among others, changes in U.S. monetary policy, the level and volatility of interest rates, the capital markets and other market conditions that may affect, among other things, our liquidity and the value of our assets and liabilities, our ability to execute on our growth strategy and each of the factors and risks under the heading “Risk Factors” in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K, in our Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, and in subsequent filings we make with the SEC. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date they are made. Except to the extent required by applicable law or regulation, FirstSun undertakes no obligation to revise or update any forward-looking statements.
