Andra Rush Joins Terex Corporation Board of Directors

8/14/2017

WESTPORT, Conn.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 14, 2017--Terex Corporation (NYSE:TEX) announced today that Andra Rush has been appointed to its Board of Directors. Ms. Rush is President and CEO of Dakkota Integrated Systems and Detroit Manufacturing Systems, as well as Chairwoman and CEO of Rush Trucking. The Rush Group families of companies are almost two billion dollars in revenues in interior components manufacturing, integrated interior and exterior systems assembly, as well as supply chain management, logistics and freight distribution. Rush owned enterprises together represent one of the largest Native American minority-owned businesses in the United States. Ms. Rush is also currently a member of the Ford Motor Company Supplier Council, and previously served on the supplier advisory boards for General Motors and Chrysler.

"We are very pleased to have Andra Rush join our Board of Directors. Ms. Rush is an accomplished business owner and CEO with the ability to see the big picture on a strategic level and significant experience in supply chain and logistics," commented David A. Sachs, Terex Chairman of the Board. "As Terex has continued to focus on expanding the experience and diversity of its Board of Directors, Ms. Rush's background and experience will make her a valuable addition to the Terex Board."
