Shade previously served in the role of vice president of Commercial Banking at U.S. Bank with responsibility for a portfolio of middle market companies. Before joining U.S. Bank, Shade served as a senior client manager, Commercial Banking at Opus Bank and vice president, National Banking with Bank of the West, both roles were based in Phoenix. Shade has lived in and served the Arizona market for many years and will assume the market president role with many strong connections to the community. Throughout his 20-year career in banking, Joshua has focused a majority of his time and attention on the commercial banking sector.

“Since joining U.S. Bank, Josh has been a key part of our efforts in Arizona, helping middle market companies succeed and managing some of the market’s most complex relationships,” said Elliot Jaffee, executive vice president and head of Commercial Banking. “Josh’s leadership, banking experience and commitment to the market will enable us to continue to provide great value to clients, employees and the community alike.”

Shade earned a BA in Economic Management from Ohio Wesleyan University and MBA from Weatherhead School of Management, Case Western Reserve University. He is an active community leader and serves on the Board of the New Pathways for Youth, an organization dedicated to providing mentoring and other support for at-risk youth. Shade was a member of the Valley Leadership Class 29 and is a one•n•ten Hero’s Circle Member.

U.S. Bank employs more than 825 people in Arizona and has 75 branches and 81 ATMs in the state. During the past three years, U.S. Bank made $2 million in foundation grants and corporate contributions to nonprofit partners throughout Arizona.
