

U.S. Bank Names Steven Bennett Columbus Market President

7/12/2016

COLUMBUS, Ohio--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jul. 12, 2016-- U.S. Bank has named veteran banker Steven Bennett as its Columbus market president. Bennett will lead the market in company-wide efforts and activities, and will direct commercial banking in the greater Columbus area.

"I am pleased to welcome Steve to this role," said Alan Zang, regional president, Northeast and Central Ohio, U.S. Bank. "I'm confident that with his experience, he is well positioned to help bring U.S. Bank's products and services to even more clients in the Columbus area and to expand our role in the community."

Bennett has over 24 years of banking experience in Ohio and joins U.S. Bank from BBVA Compass, where he most recently served as market president responsible for strategy of middle market, large corporate and healthcare relationships in Ohio and several other states. Previous to this he spent 16 years at Huntington Bank with responsibilities that included commercial relationship manager, business banking team leader, treasury management team leader and government banking director.

Bennett currently serves as a board member of the Buckeye Ranch and is a member of the national and Central Ohio Association for Financial Professionals. Bennett earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from Indiana University. He is also a Certified Treasury Professional. He and his wife and children live in the Columbus area.

U.S. Bank employs more than 380 people in Columbus and has over 46 branches in the market. In 2015, U.S. Bank made $3.2 million in foundation grants and corporate contributions to nonprofit partners in the greater Columbus area.
