

COPENHAGEN, September 6th, 2019: 5th Planet Games A/S (OAX: FIVEPG) today announced that the Swedish game producer Play'n GO has released a new chapter in the series of online slot games based on the beloved character "Hugo the Troll," who is owned by 5th Planet Games.

The game, "Hugo's Adventure," is a continuation of the Play'n GO Hugo series of games based on the popular Danish television character. It is the fourth release following their earlier titles Hugo, Hugo 2 and last year's Hugo Goal. The partnership between 5th Planet Games and Play'n GO has been a resounding success, with each of the Hugo titles performing well in the market for several years and with no signs of slowing.

The games keep on evolving and 5th Planet Games CEO Henrik Nielsen is impressed by the new slot game, which he sees as by far the best in the series. The Hugo franchise has a huge following around the World, and in more recent times its main strength has been in the mobile gaming arena. That's why Henrik Nielsen is thrilled about the partnership with Play'n Go, who has a strong mobile gaming presence in the casino industry and can bring their own distinctive brand of entertainment into Hugo's world.

The new game features Hugo and some of the well-known characters from his universe, but also boasts a unique bonus feature. Players are granted a life at the start of the feature and must dodge obstacles to avoid losing that life, while also having the opportunity to pick up extra lives along the way. That's just one of several creative ideas from Play'n GO that bridges the gap between casino gaming and other forms of gaming entertainment.

With its innovative features and well-crafted design and animation, this latest Hugo adventure promises to be the most exciting and inventive Hugo title of the Play'n GO catalog to date. Hugo's Adventure is available to play today.
