October 22, 2013

STATE STREET®

This presentation presents certain highlights of, and also material supplemental to, State Street Corporation's (State Street's) news release announcing its third-quarter 2013 financial results. That news release contains a more detailed discussion of many of the matters described in this presentation and is accompanied by detailed financial tables. This presentation is designed to be reviewed together with that news release, which is available on State Street's website and is incorporated herein by reference.

Forward-Looking Statements

This presentation contains forward-looking statements as defined by United States securities laws, including statements relating to our goals and expectations regarding our business, financial and capital condition, results of operations, investment portfolio performance and strategies, the financial and market outlook, governmental and regulatory initiatives and developments, and the business environment. Forward-looking statements are often, but not always, identified by such forward-looking terminology as "plan," "expect," "outlook," "believe," "anticipate," "estimate," "seek," "may," "will," "trend," "target," "strategy" and "goal," or similar statements or variations of such terms. These statements are not guarantees of future performance, are inherently uncertain, are based on current assumptions that are difficult to predict and involve a number of risks and uncertainties. Therefore, actual outcomes and results may differ materially from what is expressed in those statements, and those statements should not be relied upon as representing our expectations or beliefs as of any date subsequent to October 22, 2013.

Important factors that may affect future results and outcomes include, but are not limited to: the financial strength and continuing viability of the counterparties with which we or our clients do business and to which we have investment, credit or financial exposure, including, for example, the direct and indirect effects on counterparties of the current sovereign-debt risks in Europe and other regions; financial market disruptions or economic recession, whether in the U.S., Europe, Asia or other regions; increases in the volatility of, or declines in the level of, our net interest revenue, changes in the composition of the assets recorded in our consolidated statement of condition (and our ability to measure the fair value of investment securities) and the possibility that we may change the manner in which we fund those assets; the liquidity of the U.S. and international securities markets, particularly the markets for fixed-income securities and inter-bank credits, and the liquidity requirements of our clients; the level and volatility of interest rates and the performance and volatility of securities, credit, currency and other markets in the U.S. and internationally; the credit quality, credit-agency ratings and fair values of the securities in our investment securities portfolio, a deterioration or downgrade of which could lead to other-than-temporary impairment of the respective securities and the recognition of an impairment loss in our consolidated statement of income; our ability to attract deposits and other low-cost, short-term funding, and our ability to deploy deposits in a profitable manner consistent with our liquidity requirements and risk profile; the manner and timing with which the Federal Reserve and other U.S. and foreign regulators implement the Dodd-Frank Act, the Basel II and Basel III capital and liquidity standards, and European legislation with respect to the levels of regulatory capital we must maintain, our credit exposure to third parties, margin requirements applicable to derivatives, banking and financial activities and other regulatory initiatives in the U.S. and internationally, including regulatory developments that result in changes to our structure or operating model, increased costs or other changes to how we provide services; adverse changes in the regulatory capital ratios that we are required to meet, whether arising under the Dodd-Frank Act, the Basel II or Basel III capital and liquidity standards or due to changes in regulatory positions, practices or regulations in jurisdictions in which we engage in banking activities, including changes in internal or external data, formulae, models, assumptions or other advanced systems used in calculating our capital ratios that cause changes in those ratios as they are measured from period to period; increasing requirements to obtain the prior approval of the Federal Reserve or our other regulators for the use, allocation or distribution of our capital or other specific capital actions or programs, including acquisitions, dividends and equity purchases, without which our growth plans, distributions to shareholders, equity purchase programs or other capital initiatives may be restricted; changes in law or regulation that may adversely affect our business activities or those of our clients or our counterparties, and the products or services that we sell, including additional or increased taxes or assessments thereon, capital adequacy requirements, margin requirements and changes that expose us to risks related to the adequacy of our controls or compliance programs; our ability to promote a strong culture of risk management, operating controls, compliance oversight and governance that meet our expectations or those of our clients and our regulators; the credit agency ratings of our debt and depository obligations and investor and client perceptions of our financial strength; delays or difficulties in the execution of our previously announced Business Operations and Information Technology Transformation program, which could lead to changes in our estimates of the charges, expenses or savings associated with the planned program and may cause volatility of our earnings; the results of, and costs associated with, government investigations, litigation, and similar claims, disputes, or proceedings; the possibility that our clients will incur substantial losses in investment pools for which we act as agent, and the possibility of significant reductions in the valuation of assets underlying those pools; adverse publicity or other reputational harm; dependencies on information technology, complexities and costs of protecting the security of our systems and difficulties with protecting our intellectual property rights; our ability to grow revenue, control expenses, attract and retain highly skilled people and raise the capital necessary to achieve our business goals and comply with regulatory requirements; potential changes to the competitive environment, including changes due to regulatory and technological changes, the effects of industry consolidation, and perceptions of State Street as a suitable service provider or counterparty; potential changes in how and in what amounts clients compensate us for our services, and the mix of services provided by us that clients choose; the ability to complete acquisitions, joint ventures and divestitures, including the ability to obtain regulatory approvals, the ability to arrange financing as required and the ability to satisfy closing conditions; the risks that acquired businesses and joint ventures will not achieve their anticipated financial and operational benefits or will not be integrated successfully, or that the integration will take longer than anticipated, that expected synergies will not be achieved or unexpected dysnergies will be experienced, that client and deposit retention goals will not be met, that other regulatory or operational challenges will be experienced and that disruptions from the transaction will harm our relationships with our clients, our employees or regulators; our ability to recognize emerging needs of our clients and to develop products that are responsive to such trends and profitable to us, the performance of and demand for the products and services we offer, and the potential for new products and services to impose additional costs on us and expose us to increased operational risk; our ability to anticipate and manage the level and timing of redemptions and withdrawals from our collateral pools and other collective investment products; our ability to control operating risks, data security breach risks, information technology systems risks and outsourcing risks, and our ability to protect our intellectual property rights, the possibility of errors in the quantitative models we use to manage our business and the possibility that our controls will prove insufficient, fail or be circumvented; changes in accounting standards and practices; and changes in tax legislation and in the interpretation of existing tax laws by U.S. and non-U.S. tax authorities that affect the amount of taxes due.

Other important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated by any forward-looking statements are set forth in our 2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K and our subsequent SEC filings. We encourage investors to read these filings, particularly the sections on risk factors, for additional information with respect to any forward-looking statements and prior to making any investment decision. The forward-looking statements contained in this presentation speak only as of the date hereof, October 22, 2013, and we do not undertake efforts to revise those forward-looking statements to reflect events after that date.

See pages 6,8,10 and 11 of this presentation for a GAAP-basis presentation of the referenced information for the relevant periods. (3) Estimated pre-tax expense savings relate only to the Business Operations and Information Technology Transformation program and are based on projected improvement from total 2010 operating-basis expenses. Actual total expenses of the Company have increased since 2010, and may increase or decrease in the future, due to other factors.

- Operating-basis (non-GAAP)⁽¹⁾ net interest revenue (NIR) and net interest margin (NIM)
 - Operating-basis NIR⁽¹⁾ and NIM⁽¹⁾ were pressured by the low interest-rate environment as expected
 - NIR decreased 5.0% to $553 million from Q2 '13 due to lower yields on and lower levels of earning assets, partially offset by lower liability costs
 - NIM of 1.27% decreased from 1.31% in Q2 '13

- Strong capital position
 - Return of capital to shareholders through common stock purchases and dividends
 - Purchased approximately 8.2 million shares of our common stock in Q3 '13, at an average price of $68.57 per share for a total cost of approximately $560 million, under the March 2013 program authorizing the purchase of up to $2.1 billion of common stock through March 31, 2014
 - Declared a $0.26-per-share quarterly common stock dividend
 - Declared a non-cumulative quarterly perpetual preferred stock, Series C dividend of $0.33 per depository share

 - Tier 1 common ratio was 15.5% as of September 30, 2013, as calculated using currently applicable regulatory requirements under Basel I rules
 - Estimated pro forma Basel III tier 1 common ratio as of September 30, 2013 was 10.2% (standardized approach) and 11.3% (advanced approach), each calculated in conformity with the July 2013 final rule issued by the Federal Reserve. Under the final rule, the lower of these two Basel III tier 1 common ratios will apply in the assessment of our capital adequacy for regulatory purposes

Refer to pages 15 and 16 of this presentation for important information about the July 2013 final rule, State Street's calculations of its tier 1 common ratios thereunder and factors that could influence State Street's calculation of its tier 1 common ratios. Key Drivers

- As compared to Q3'12, growth in servicing fees primarily driven by stronger global equity markets, the acquired GSAS business and net new business; sequential-quarter growth in servicing fees primarily due to stronger global equity markets, partially offset by lower transaction volumes
- Management fees increased compared to Q3 '12 primarily due to stronger global equity markets and net new business and were relatively unchanged compared to Q2 '13
- Trading services revenue increased over Q3 '12 primarily due to higher volumes and volatilities in foreign exchange trading and decreased from Q2 '13 primarily due to lower volumes and volatilities in foreign exchange trading
- Securities finance revenue decreased from Q3 '12 primarily due to lower spreads and decreased from Q2 '13 primarily due to seasonality and lower spreads and volumes
- Processing fees and other revenue increased compared to Q3 '12, primarily due to fee revenue associated with our investment in bank-owned life insurance
- NIR declined on year-ago quarter and sequential-quarter basis due to persistent low interest rates; NIM of 1.27% for Q3 '13 down from 1.31% in Q2 '13 due to lower yields on earning assets, partly offset by lower liability costs

Operating-Basis NIR Outlook

- For full-year 2013, we expect⁽²⁾:
 - Average earning assets to grow ~5% compared to 2012
 - NIM to be slightly below 130 bps
 - NIR to be $170 to $180 million below 2012 full-year NIR

(1) Results presented on an operating basis, a non-GAAP presentation. Refer to the addendum linked to this presentation for explanations of our non-GAAP financial measures and for reconciliations of our operating-basis financial information.

(2) Estimates are based on numerous management assumptions. Estimates assume that interest rates globally and client deposits remain at or around current levels for the remainder of the year and actual results may differ.

Operating-Basis (Non-GAAP) Expenses⁽¹⁾

$ in millions	% change
	Q3 '13	Q2 '13	Q3 '12
Compensation and employee benefits	$ 903	(1.5)%	(1.4)%

Transaction processing services	185	(0.5)	8.8
Occupancy	113	(0.9)	(1.7)
Other	251	(16.6)	(0.4)
Total operating-basis expenses	$ 1,687	(3.8)%	1.4%

Key Drivers

- Compensation and employee benefits expenses decreased from Q3 '12 primarily due to savings associated with the execution of the Business Operations and Information Technology Transformation program and lower benefit costs, partially offset by an increase in costs to support new business and higher incentive compensation; decreased from Q2 '13 primarily due to lower benefit costs resulting from plan changes and savings associated with the execution of the Business Operations and Information Technology Transformation program, partially offset by an increase in costs to support new business
- Information systems and communications expenses were up from the year-ago quarter, primarily related to the planned transition of certain functions to service providers as part of the Business Operations and Information Technology Transformation program, as well as costs to support new business
- Transaction processing services expenses were up from the year-ago quarter primarily due to higher equity market values and higher transaction volumes in the asset servicing business
- Other expenses decreased on a sequential quarter basis due primarily to a Q3 '13 gain of $19 million from the sale of a legacy Lehman Brothers-related asset, lower litigation costs (including a Lehman Brothers-related recovery of $11 million in Q3 '13), and lower professional services fees and sales promotion costs. These were partially offset by a new Federal Reserve supervisory assessment of $7 million

- (1) Unless otherwise specified, all capital ratios referenced above and elsewhere in this presentation refer to State Street and not State Street Bank and Trust Company, or State Street Bank. Refer to the addendum linked to this presentation for a further description of these ratios, and for reconciliations applicable to State Street's tier 1 common and tangible common equity, or TCE, ratios presented above.
- (2) On July 2, 2013, the Federal Reserve issued a rule intended to implement the Basel III framework in the U.S. The final rule consolidated, with revisions, three separate Notices of Proposed Rulemaking, or NPRs, originally issued by the Federal Reserve in June 2012. State Street's transition period with respect to the final rule has not yet commenced. Under the final rule, the lower of State Street's tier 1 common ratio calculated under the Basel III advanced approach, referred to as the advanced approach, and under the Basel III standardized approach, referred to as the standardized approach, will be State Street's effective tier 1 common ratio used in connection with the assessment of its capital adequacy for regulatory purposes. These calculations differ from calculations done in conformity with the June 2012 NPRs.

The estimated pro forma Basel III tier 1 common ratios presented in the table above as of September 30, 2013 are preliminary estimates by State Street, calculated in conformity with the advanced and standardized approaches in the July 2013 final rule. Each of these calculations reflects tier 1 common equity calculated under the final rule as applicable on its January 1, 2014 effective date and is based on State Street's present interpretations, expectations and understanding of the final rule as of October 22, 2013.

The estimated pro forma Basel III tier 1 common ratio as of September 30, 2013, calculated in conformity with the advanced approach in the July 2013 final rule, reflects calculations and determinations with respect to State Street's capital and related matters as of September 30, 2013, based on State Street and external data, quantitative formulae, statistical models, historical correlations and assumptions, collectively referred to as "advanced systems", in effect and used by State Street for those purposes as of October 22, 2013. Significant components of these advanced systems involve the exercise of judgment by State Street and its regulators, and these advanced systems may not accurately represent or calculate the scenarios, circumstances, outputs or other results for which they are designed or intended. Due to the influence of changes in these advanced systems, whether resulting from changes in data inputs, regulation or regulatory supervision or interpretation, State Street-specific or market activities or experiences or other updates or factors, State Street expects that its advanced systems and its capital ratios calculated in conformity with the Basel III framework will change and may be volatile over time, and that those latter changes or volatility could be material as calculated and measured from period to period. Refer to the addendum linked to this presentation for information concerning the specified capital ratios and for reconciliations of State Street's estimated pro forma Basel III tier 1 common ratios to the tier 1 common ratio calculated using currently applicable regulatory requirements under Basel I rules.

- (3) On July 9, 2013, the Federal Reserve and the FDIC issued an NPR proposing to enhance leverage ratio standards for U.S. bank holding companies with at least $700 billion in consolidated total assets or at least $10 trillion in total assets under custody, and their insured depository institution subsidiaries. If adopted, these enhanced standards would apply to State Street and State Street Bank, and would require State Street and State Street Bank to maintain Basel III supplementary leverage ratios of at least 5% and 6%, respectively, in order to avoid specified restrictions on capital distributions and other consequences. These proposed enhancements serve as an "add-on" requirement to the similar 3% minimum supplementary leverage ratio proposed by the Basel Committee and reflected in the Federal Reserve's July 2013 final rule described in note (2) above. The estimated pro forma Basel III supplementary leverage ratios presented above for State Street and State Street Bank are preliminary estimates, calculated in conformity with the July 2013 NPR. Each of these calculations is based on State Street's present interpretations, expectations and understanding of the July 2013 NPR as of October 22, 2013.

The proposed supplementary leverage ratio is calculated as the simple arithmetic mean of the ratios of tier 1 capital to total leverage exposure, each calculated in conformity with the July 2013 final rule, as of the last day of each month in the reporting quarter. Total leverage exposure is defined as the sum of on-balance sheet assets, net of amounts deducted from tier 1 capital, as defined, plus certain off-balance sheet exposures, including, for example, the potential future exposure of derivative contracts and unfunded lending and other commitments. This calculation differs from the tier 1 leverage ratio calculated in conformity with currently applicable regulatory requirements, referred to as Basel I, which ratio is calculated as the ratio of tier 1 capital as of the end of the reporting quarter to adjusted quarterly average on-balance sheet assets, as defined. The Basel I ratio does not include off-balance sheet exposures.
